World Autism Awareness Day/Month, 2019

The world marks Autism Awareness Day every year on April 2nd. This event is internationally recognized and celebrated to encourage Member States of the United Nations to take measures and raise awareness about Autism Spectrum Disorder (ASD) throughout the world. The entire month of April is dedicated to this cause. In commemoration of this, we carried out a free evaluation exercise that ran from April 1st-26th.

Dr. Julia Ejiogu Speaks At The United Nations

The Zeebah Foundation's Clinical Director, Dr. Julia Ejiogu was invited to speak at the United Nation's 12th annual edition of the World Autism Awareness Day 2019.

This year's theme was "Assistive Technologies, Active Participation".

Her panel elaborated on "Communication: A Human Right".

During her session, she discussed how assistive technology has been part of the human rights policies and cultural acceptance in Nigeria. She said Nigeria's focus is on the level of awareness as well as the fact that children, individuals and persons on Autism Spectrum Disorder can actually go beyond just being isolated from the society, to live independent lives and be more self reliant.
